DISAPPEARS FROM MURPHY'S HOTEL

Police Asked to Find J. H. Glasgow, of Buena Vista, Missing Since Tuesday.

Alarmed over his continued absence from Murphy's Hotel, since Tuesday morning, friends of J. H. Glasgow, of Buena Vista, yesterday afternoon called on the Police Department to institute a search for the missing man. Inquiry over the long distance telephone revealed the fact that he was not at home, and had not been there since he left for Richmond, and relatives and friends are greatly troubled at the strange disappearance.

Detective Sergeant Atkinson was detailed to make investigation, and late last night he reported that he had been unable to obtain any clue as to where Mr. Glasgow might be. His baggage is still at the hotel, and it was said that he was prompt in paying his bills.

According to the report made to the police, Mr. Glasgow came here to see a sister who is in one of the hospitals. He appeared to be suffering from some mental trouble, and it is believed that he was brooding over the condition of his sister. He was last seen in the lobby of Murphy's Hotel at a clock on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Glasgow is a prosperous farmer, and is said to be well connected and very widely known in and about Buena Vista. He was described as being thirty-five years of age, five feet, ten inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, is clean shaven and has black hair.

MAKING SURVEY OF COAL DEPOSITS

State Geological Commission Is Preparing to Publish Valuable Bulletins.

Announcement that a preliminary report on the coal deposits in Southwest Virginia will shortly be published was made yesterday at the annual meeting of the State Geological Commission in the office of the Governor. The mapping of the entire coal areas of the State was begun by the commission, in conjunction with the United States Geological Survey, some time ago, and the result of the first two field seasons' work will be continued in this report.

The commission has arranged plans to study the water-power resources and mineral riches of Virginia during the next two years. Water-power, being one of the chief assets of the State, is the subject of frequent inquiry by persons living in all sections of the country. When the report is completed, data on the water-power resources will be readily accessible.

Virginia ranks second to New York in the number and value of its mineral springs. The State Geologist informed the commission that inquiries for detailed information on this subject are numerous.

The commission authorized the publication of the following bulletins: Report on the Virginia copper deposits, report on the iron ores of Western Virginia, report on slate deposits, report on the limestone resources of the Blue Ridge and report on the road building material of the State. These publications, when received from the printer, will be distributed free upon request.

Present at yesterday's meeting were Governor Mann, Governor-elect J. E. Egleston, in his report, State Geologist Watson said that in the last two years the following reports of surveys in the State have been published: Under ground water resources of the coalfield plain province of Virginia, study of the limestone and apatite deposits in Virginia, the geology of the gold belt in the James River basin and the mineral reports on the mineral productions of Virginia in 1911-1912.

Pushcart Stolen.
Abraham Johnson, colored, was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing two pushcarts. One was alleged to have been stolen from Oscar Lockett, and Elias Haskins claimed the other.

KILLS HIMSELF IN MAIN STREET

John H. Gibbs Drinks Carbolic Acid Before Anybody Could Stop Him.

Aid Quickly Summoned, but Pressman Was Dead When Physician Arrived.

Before the startled eyes of several people, John H. Gibbs, a pressman living at 2008 West Cary Street, swallowed the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid while walking in Main Street, near Vine, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and died within a few minutes in the doorway of Albert D. Bille's hardware store, at 1027 West Main Street.

As Gibbs collapsed at the threshold to his store Bille ran to his assistance, not knowing whether he had merely fainted or was dying. But he detected immediately the odor of the acid and noticed a long livid scar on the dying man's neck, where, in his haste to end his troubles, he had spilled some of the contents of the bottle. The vital was dropped at the point where he swallowed the fatal dose and was broken, so that it could not be determined how much he had taken.

Gibbs relapsed into unconsciousness immediately. Mr. Bille had the city ambulance summoned, but long before Dr. Marshall Boyle, Jr., arrived, Gibbs was dead. Detective Sergeant Wiley, to whom all such cases are referred, was notified, and he responded immediately.

In the dead man's pocket he found a brief message to Gibbs's wife. It read: "Dear Rosa: Good-by."

(Signed) "JOHN."
Another letter, mailed on January 8 and evidently written by his wife, was also found in his pocket. The letter advised him not to address any letters in the care of a woman named in the letter, as she and several others had been talking so much about the writer. The writer also said that she would see Gibbs and explain everything to him. There was no indication as to what there was to explain, except that it dwelt upon the fact that Gibbs's letters to her had caused much gossip and, therefore, much annoyance. It was couched in affectionate terms. The letter was signed "Tosa."

Coroner Taylor viewed the body, and it was turned over to Bille's undertaking establishment. It was a plain case of suicide.

TO RETAIN MR. WARREN

Mayor Signs Ordinance Directing His Employment as Assistant Auditor.
Mayor Ansley returned yesterday to City Clerk E. H. Collins, his signature, a resolution authorizing and directing the Commission on Finance to employ Edward J. Warren, former City Auditor, whose term expired on December 31, 1913, as assistant auditor of the city for twelve months, from January 1, 1914, at a compensation of $1,000 a year.

The Mayor also approved an ordinance which provides that there shall be elected after the approval of the said ordinance, an Auditor, who shall continue in office until the expiration of the City Council shall, in July, 1914, and every two years thereafter, until the expiration of a term of two years, beginning July 1.

Board's Tribute to Isaac Held.
The Administrative Board yesterday adopted resolutions of respect to the memory of Isaac Held, deputy city treasurer, who died in Quantico, Va., on Thursday night, and of sympathy for the bereaved family. Mr. Held was commended by the board, and the clerk was instructed to send a copy to the family.

Alleged Highwaymen Dismissed.
Owing to a lack of evidence, Magistrate T. J. Puryear, of Henrico County, yesterday morning dismissed the warrants against Arthur Collins, an Indian, and William Kenney, colored, charged with highway robbery. The men were accused of holding up, robbing and shooting the Rev. J. B. Bohemian farmer, more than a month ago near Ginter Park. The men were represented by H. M. Smith, Jr., and positively identified Collins, but there was no further evidence to support the charge.

BYRD LIQUOR LAW UPHELD BY COURT

Unlawful Even to Give Ardent Spirits to Man Who Is Drunk in Your Home.

WRIT OF ERROR IS REFUSED

Court Rules That No State License Is Necessary on Pool Tables in Elks' Home.

By refusing a writ of error in the case of James Crawford against the Commonwealth, the State Supreme Court yesterday upheld the construction placed upon the Byrd law by the Circuit Court of Rockingham County, which was that it is unlawful to give or furnish an intoxicated man with ardent spirits. Crawford was fined $50 for revenue of Rockingham County for giving a glass of wine to Bernard McDaniels in his own home while the latter was under the influence of liquor. In the answer for a writ of error, Crawford's attorney attacked for reversal of the Byrd law as a violation of the privileges guaranteed individual citizens under the Constitution of the United States. While the General Assembly is delegated with authority by the State Constitution to regulate the manufacture and sale of ardent spirits, the petition, it is not empowered to legislate against the exercise of hospitality in a private home. Crawford's attorney also attacked the constitutionality of the Byrd law, claiming that the law prohibiting the furnishing of alcoholic drinks to a drunken man under any circumstances is entirely unconstitutional. The sale of ardent spirits to a drunken man by a person is punishable by the loss of license.

Crawford asserts that he gave McDaniels the glass of wine to pacify him and prevent a threatened fight with other guests in his home.
No License Required.
The Supreme Court also decided that a State license is not to be required for the operation of billiard and pool tables in clubs, where the tables are for use by members only. A writ of error was refused in the case of the Commonwealth against the Elks' Home, Inc., appealed from the Corporation Court of Roanoke. The commissioner of revenue had a suit to secure a State license for the billiard and poolroom operated in the home. The contention was made by the club that the tables were for the recreation of the members, and that the fee charged for using them was levied only to cover the cost of upkeep.

McKee Tells Board What Charges Are Made for Dormitory Rooms.
The reply of Secretary S. K. McKee, of the Y. M. C. A., to a communication from the Administrative Board, requesting him to state the rates required for use of the dormitory for meals, reached the board yesterday. Mr. McKee stated that rooms were rented at $8, $10 and $12 a month, and that the lunchroom had not been conducted for the last two years. Several other conditions were the result of the request of the Y. M. C. A. for reduced water rates. Before acting on the request the members of the board were asked to consider the request, and the association receives from its regular charges. After receiving Mr. McKee's letter the board instructed the Superintendent of the Water Works to report to the board the amount of water used by the Y. M. C. A. and the rates now charged.

DIED ON CITY TUG

William C. Merrydew Stricken Before Boat Could Return to Wharf.
William C. Merrydew, for thirty-four years an employee of the James River department of the city, died suddenly on a tugboat on board the city tug Thomas Cunningham, Sr.

Mr. Merrydew, who for twenty-three years had been employed on the tug as fireman, entered upon his duties yesterday morning when he was sent to the tug to take a load of material down the river to deposit a lighter of material, and while several miles below the city Mr. Merrydew was stricken.

Captain Cunningham rushed the tug to the city, and the body was removed to the residence of his wife, one son, Joseph T. Merrydew, and one brother, Fred R. Merrydew.

The funeral will take place at 10:30 tomorrow morning from Denny Street Methodist Church, of which he had long been a member.

COLLIDED IN STREET

Isley Injured When Motorcycle and Motor-cycle Came Together.

L. C. Isley, of 205 Mosby Street, was hurt when his motorcycle and a motor-cycle collided at Seventh and Grace Streets yesterday afternoon in a collision with an automobile. Isley was taken to the city hospital, and in rushed to Stuart Circle. Examination showed that his knee cap was fractured, and he was badly bruised about the body. After expressing regret at the accident and offering aid, Mrs. Valden immediately had her car stopped and rushed to the hospital to get Isley. Mr. Isley was attended by Dr. A. L. Martin, of Highland Park. The injury will keep him in the hospital for some time.

Duck Still Coming In.
Shipments of duck from the Eastern Shore have been received every day this week at the local post-office. Each consignment averages twenty crates, all weighing close to the fifty-pound limit of the parcel post requirements. All are sent to local commission merchants.

COMING HERE TO INSPECT GROUND

Public Buildings Committee of Congress to View Local Post-Office Situation.

MONTAGUE URGES RELIEF

Presses Fight for $600,000 Appropriation to Enlarge Federal Building.

The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, of which Congressman Clark, of Florida, is chairman, yesterday voted to make a trip to Richmond within the next few weeks to survey the cramped condition of the post-office in this city, for which Congressman Montague is asking an emergency appropriation of $600,000 to build an extensive addition. A telegram from Washington last night told of the committee's decision. The date for the inspection trip will be determined upon shortly, and every member of the committee will be of the party. Congressman Montague will act as guide, and will demonstrate the necessity for the immediate enlargement of the floor space.

Although unwilling to comment publicly upon the action of the committee, Mr. Montague appeared optimistic after his appearance in the committee-room yesterday to present Richmond's cause. The fact that the committee is coming here to view the situation, he said, is a vote of confidence in the city. Every consideration will be given Mr. Montague's bill, providing for the $600,000 appropriation.

In addition to voting to inspect the ground, the committee agreed to call upon the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish at once such information as is available on the condition of the local post-office. At the request of former Postmaster Edgar Allan, Jr., an inspector of the Treasury Department recently visited Richmond, viewed the situation thoroughly, and prepared a written report of his recommendations. The report has never been made public, but it is understood by the local post-office authorities that it was a plain statement of the need for immediately enlarging the Richmond postal facilities. Shortly after the visit of the inspector, Mr. Montague offered a special appropriation bill in plain language, asking for $1,000,000 for the remainder of the block now occupied by the post-office and the erection thereon of an addition on the style of the present structure.

In presenting arguments for his bill before the committee yesterday, Mr. Montague directed attention to the enormous growth in post-office business in Richmond during the last few years. In 1913 alone the post-office receipts increased $64,000, coming within a few thousand dollars of $900,000. Mr. Montague pointed out that the installation of the parcel post class of mail, not taken into consideration when the Treasury Department planned the new Richmond post-office, that the situation is almost unbearable. Either the local post-office must rent quarters in the neighborhood, or the government must increase its floor space in a generous measure.

The rush of Christmas business fairly swamped the building, although every provision possible was made in advance to care for the expected deluge. It was the lack of space on this occasion that first directed attention to the necessity for increasing the size of the post-office.

Shelters Many Offices.
The fact that the Richmond post-office houses two United States courts, a custom house, doing a $1,000,000 business, the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue of a district contributing annually $7,000,000 to the Federal Treasury, the headquarters of the revenue agent, a large railway mail service division, and numerous other departments of the United States government is being used to influence the committee to vote the appropriation asked. Attention was called by Mr. Montague to the fact that at this time a portion of the custom-house is lodged in a rented building on account of the lack of space in the post-office, while neither the army or navy recruiting offices can find quarters in the Federal Building.

The right for the addition to the post-office has been taken up by the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Club and other organizations. Copies of the resolutions recently passed here have been sent to members of the Virginia delegation in Congress. In addition, the chamber has been collecting data on the local situation and forwarding it to Mr. Montague and the Treasury Department.

Hurt by Auto Truck.
John L. Carr, chauffeur, was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of driving an automobile into Thomas H. Smith, colored. Carr was driving a truck, and it was said that Smith attempted to cross in front of him. Smith was badly bruised, but was not seriously injured. He was attended by Dr. A. J. Weinstein, of the City Hospital. Carr was jailed.

Benjamin L. Purcell, Ill.
Benjamin L. Purcell, assistant State dairy and food commissioner, is ill with pneumonia. Reports from his home yesterday regarding his condition were encouraging. His physicians said that he is now in the crisis of the disease, and that the outcome of the next few days will depend his chances for recovery. He was unable to report for duty in his official capacity, and in account of a deep cold which he contracted. This suddenly developed into pneumonia.

Contracts Awarded.
The Administrative Board awarded several contracts yesterday, as follows:
Printing—b ok work to the William Byrd Press, Incorporated; job work to Clyde W. Saunders; binding, ruling, etc., to Weymouth, Meister & Smith; stationery and blank books to the Virginia Stationery Company; advertising, to the Richmond Evening Journal and the Daily German Advertiser.

Marriage License.
A marriage license was issued yesterday in the Hustings Court to James G. Loving and Maude E. Leslie.

Cannerman Executed Quality.
Mrs. Mollie R. Casselman and the Virginia Trust Company qualified yesterday in Henrico Circuit Court as executors on the estate of Laurence Casselman, who died on Sunday. The estate, both real and personal, amounted to $24,000.

EXPECT V. M. I. CORPS IN INAUGURAL PARADE

V. P. I. Cadets Unable to Attend, but Boys From Lexington May Come in Body—Arranging for Big Military Spectacle on February 2.

Much to the regret of the inaugural committee, it was learned yesterday that the cadet corps of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute will be unable to come to Richmond to participate in the military parade, which will be a feature of the inauguration of Governor-elect Stuart on Monday, February 2. President J. D. Eggleston, of the Institute, has been in the city during the last few days and has endeavored in vain to finance the proposed trip from Blacksburg. The fact that Mr. Stuart is unwilling to put the State to any expense for his inauguration has operated to prevent the V. P. I. corps from being ordered here and the bill paid from the State Treasury.

On the other hand, there are reasons to believe that the corps of the Virginia Military Institute will be in line and offer an unusual spectacle to the Richmond public. General E. W. Nichols, superintendent of the Institute, was in the city yesterday in consultation with General Charles J. Anderson and Colonel Joseph Button, two members of his board. These officials were in conference with the Governor-elect, members of the General Assembly, the inaugural committee and prominent alumni of the Institute during the day. While it was impossible to make definite arrangements for the trip of the cadets, Colonel Button stated last night that he is of the belief that a suitable arrangement will be effected within the next day or two.

The cadet corps of the Virginia Military Institute has appeared in Richmond only a few times in recent years. On the occasion of the visit of Colonel Roosevelt to Richmond during the presidency the corps came down to act as his personal escort, and again, when President Taft visited the city the corps acted in the same capacity. Whether or not the Virginia Military Institute cadets will be Mr. Stuart's personal escort in the inaugural parade is a matter to be decided by the committee.

Delegate Myers, of the inaugural committee, has been intrusted with the task of preparing the line of march and arranging the military organizations in the order in which they will parade. His tentative scheme provides for the parade to occupy places according to seniority. No reply to invitations issued by the committee to all the military organizations in the State to participate in the parade has been received. The invitations having only had time to reach their destinations. Permission to attend the inaugural has been given every command by Adjutant-General Sale. Quite a number of the commands located in neighboring cities are expected to take part in the parade.

ADDING MEMBERS TO TRADE BUREAU

Body That Will Stage "Spring Trade Week" Given Strong Support by Merchants.

As a result of the campaign carried on during the last few days, the membership of the trade extension bureau of the Chamber of Commerce has been increased to more than 100. In August, the bureau, with only a small membership, succeeded in staging the successful Better Acquaintance Week, which brought 600 merchants and thousands of dollars into the city. Naturally the jobbers and manufacturers composing the bureau were nearest to the visiting merchants, and reaped the greatest benefit from the affair.

The success of the week led dozens of jobbers voluntarily to seek membership in the bureau in order to share in the business expected to be drawn to the city during "Spring Trade Week," March 3 to 6.

A new executive committee is sending copy of the invitations to the printer to-day. These invitations, of which 100,000 will be printed, will be distributed throughout the Southern States in the mail of the large jobbing houses of Richmond. The traveling salesmen of the same houses have been instructed to spread the news of the big affair among their customers, and to urge them to take the next opportunity to do their spring buying in Richmond without being put to the expense of traveling.

The best advertising that "Spring Trade Week" will get will be from the merchants who came here to do business during "Better Acquaintance Week." The treatment they received was an eye-opener to them, and they were, to a man, enthusiastically grateful.
